Drag Strip Study Underway

The Rochester Committee of Concerned Citizens was formed last Tuesday, June 22nd. The purpose of this Committee is to voice opinions and present documented evidence regarding the proposal of the Cape Cod 1320 Engineering Company, Reed Faxon, president, to establish a drag strip in the area of Towser's Neck and Haskell's Swamp. If the initial drag strip is financially successful, the company intends to add both a one-half and two and one-half mile oval track and also a Grand Prix Road Course.

FOURTH RACE IN SENIOR SATURDAY RACES

Another pleasant racing day greeted the nine contestants as the Mattapoisett Yacht Club ran the fourth and last race in the June Series of the Saturday Senior Races on June 26th. In the two classes competing, Susan McGowan and Tom Clark were the winners.

It was definitely summer out there in the harbor, with partly cloudy skies and warm winds shifting from west to northwest.

Sailing a 6.7 mile course to Town Anchorage Red Nun 8, to Barstow Rock Red Nun 6, to Angelica Point Red Nun 2, back to Town Anchorage Red Nun 8 and finish at Ned's Point, Sue McGowan led the fleet of four Handicap boats all the way. She was challenged on the third leg for a time, however, as John Malcolm in Witch of Agnesi raised his spinnaker and started to narrow the gap. But on the long beat from Angelica Point Red Nun 2, to Town Anchorage Red Nun 5, Susan forged ahead again, the victor by a margin of 10:17 (corrected time). Peter Anthony's Eclipse I placed third.

The Corinthian course took them from Ned's Point to Shining Tides MYC guide buoy and back, twice around. Billy Mee in Irish Eyes won the starting duel, only to be overtaken by Tom Clark in Instead as they headed to the first marker. The downwind leg (second time around) saw a close contest developing between Instead and Norm Shachoy's Blue Chip. Although Blue Chip lagged by only five boat-lengths at one point, Instead managed to cross the line by a margin of 15 seconds. Art Blackburn's Lorelei came in third.

Winners in June Series, Handicap Class, Witch of Agnesi, John Malcolm; and Corinthians, Instead, Tom Clark.

LIBRARIAN RETIRES

A coffee hour was given in honor of Mrs. Samuel Hathaway, retiring head librarian of the Mattapoisett Public Library, hosted by members of the Board of Trustees and the Literature Group of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club.

In appreciation for her many years of faithful service Mrs. Hathaway received a gift of electric grass trimmers, presented by Mrs. Donald K. Marvin, a trustee. Among other gifts received were a copy of the "Mark Twain Letters to the Rogers Library", from Rita E. Steele, librarian at the Mil-

Thank You

Editorial, D.C.J.

As one who has benefitted greatly from the work of Mrs. Samuel Hathaway, I speak for myself and I believe all the rest of the town when I thank her for her wonderful service to us. Mrs. Hathaway is retiring this week as Mattapoisett librarian, a post she has so ably filled for 8 years. Without a doubt, the library is used by more people, in every age bracket, than any other town service. Thanks to extreme good fortune and some very able trustees, Mattapoisett has had and does have an excellent library. Thanks to the same source, we have exceptional people to keep it the fine center for information, entertainment and knowledge that books impart so very well. Above and beyond the call of duty, Kay Hathaway has made the library a friendly place and a place where assistance is cheerfully and generously at hand. She has

It is a labor of love as well as intelligence. For all this, we are grateful to Mrs. Hathaway and offer a collective thank you for a job so very well done.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May I, through the medium of the Presto Press, express my humble opinion about the new FISH organization of Mattapoisett. Each and everyone of the members of this fine group is doing a positively fantastic job and have really performed far beyond expectations.

I personally have called on several occasions for help to some one in need, and the response has been instantaneous and most efficient.

This has got to be the answer towards pulling this "poor tired old world" up by its boot straps! People helping people and I for one want to publicly thank and congratulate them!

Capeway League

Capeway Cafe, sparked by Denny Akin's home run, crushed Linhares 13-1 in the Capeway Softball League's key game of the week last Sunday. Capeway had previously dropped its only two games of the season to Linhares, but Jimmy Correia was in rare form, setting down the construction nine on just five scattered hits. Fish on the Wharf, meanwhile, belted the Mattapoisett Merchants 17-4 in the second game of the twinbill to move into a tie for second place, two full games behind Capeway. Fish on the Wharf got long home runs from Gary Bobola and Richie DeMello in the one-sided contest. Earlier in the week Linhares toppled the Merchants 13-9 while Capeway, with John Martinez getting five hits, crushed Rochester Men's Club 20-9.

As regards the level of education desired for the children in the District, 93% of the respondents to the questionnaire wanted college education for their children.

Seventy percent of those responding felt that they were familiar with the program of studies offered at Old Rochester and that the program of studies was, in their opinion, a good one.

Seventy-one percent of the parents felt that the school was well administered; eighty percent felt that the School Committee does make an effort to improve the quality of education offered to the children. Sixty percent of the respondents felt that the School Committee made every effort to keep budgets and the cost of education down.

More people felt that the School Committee reflected the community's thinking than those who did not.

The respondents in the three towns (76%) seemed to feel that there should be standards established and maintained for dress codes; fifty-five percent of those responding felt that students should have some decision-making powers.

In conjunction with the administration and faculty, fifty-six percent of the respondents expressed concern for more communication from the School Committee as well as from the school administrators.

Generally, the respondents felt that the three most pronounced problems confronting education at the Old Rochester Regional High School were finances, drugs and drug education, and the need for educational space.

The School Committee felt that they have gained much insight into the areas of concern expressed by the citizenry as regards curtailment and expansion of programs. For example, interest was strong for courses dealing with family living, political science, the business world, the expansion of industrial arts, stronger academic programs and the need to study and evaluate discipline practices. These comments were made by fifty-five percent of the respondents.

The School Committee, in ensuing months, have committed themselves to further in-depth study of comments made and the Committee stated that they would undertake such study from time to time as a part of their regular business sessions.

Towards people he likes, the Cancerian is sympathetic, protective and guarding, while, concerning things, he has a natural instinct for collecting.

He deeply embraces many instinctively held ideas and seeks to justify them. He tends to base his actions on feelings rather than thoughts.

Female Cancerians are often drawn to domestic life. Powerful feelings about preserving the family unit and the home are common among male Cancerians who frequently beautify their home throughout the year with colorful flowers.

Cancerians must continually guard against the misuse of those traits which can lead to fussiness and restlessness. The spoon chrysanthemum is their flower, according to FTD florists, who add that moss agate is their birthstone.

Decision

Editorial, D.C.J.

Very shortly, the voters of Rochester will make a choice with the potential to change not only their town but every other adjoining town as well. It would be very easy to overlook the consequences of a choice, which, on the surface, offers an immediate, if small, tax benefit to Rochester homeowners.

Four towns are to be directly affected by Rochester's decision of the proposed drag strip. The site contemplated adjoins the Mattapoisett line and is a portion of the great swamp which is the water source for the river valley. This swampland, like a giant sponge, gathers excess water and releases it gradually. The flow is divided. Part of the flow goes into the Marion watershed. The other division is to the cranberry bogs of Acushnet Road and into the Mattapoisett River - the water source of both Mattapoisett and Fairhaven. So, the watershed of Marion, Rochester, Mattapoisett and Fairhaven is directly in the path of possible pollution from a filled swamp which would be called upon to accept the sewage of thousands of customers and possible contamination from oil products, a small amount of which can make water undrinkable. Filling this swamp would also result in the loss of a huge holding area for flood water and therefore increase the possibility of flooding and its own contaminating result.

The loss of this same area in a natural state for propagation of wildlife and bird life is impossible to measure in terms of money but surely the reason why Massachusetts' law prohibits the filling of swampland by the individual land owners is that this kind of area is vital to the ecology. This area destroyed as natural environment is bound to have permanent effect on the wildlife of the swamp. The same mass of people will also change the whole character of Rochester and adjoining towns. From a quiet, rural residential community, the change would be to the commercialism that follows the racing fan. Campers, vending stands, hundreds of vehicles would be an inevitable part of the scene and the spill over would be throughout the town. It may be that service costs would prove to cut

These are a few of the considerations which must influence the Rochester decision.
